Active ingredients

LUMINESCINE: active ingredient derived from Verbascum flower.

The first active ingredient used in cosmetics based on photoluminescence concept - the ability of some materials to absorb energy from light and transform it into new visible light. Flowers use photoluminescence to attract insects

Benefits

Liquid hair conditioner, which activates in contact with water. It does not require long exposure times because it works instantly.

Suitable to make hair look healthier and smooth.

The active ingredient Luminescine visibly enhances the light reflection of the hair, while the conditioning agents repair and discipline it.

The hair has a true softer finish, is lightweight and perfumed just like after salon-hair treatment

Key words
